Dilworth, Barr Cop Mayor Fights

By The Associated Press

DEMOCRATS won important mayoralty fights in Pennsylvania's two biggest cities Tuesday, but two statewide contests for judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts remained in doubt as slowly-counted returns trickled in.

Harold Stassen, a national Republican figure who three times has tried to win his party's presidential nominee, was buried under the biggest Democratic majority ever amassed in a Philadelphia mayoralty contest.

Stassen went down to defeat before Mayor Richardson Dilworth who was re-elected to his second four-year term. Dilworth said he was astounded that his majority approached 200,000. Stassen shrugged off defeat, congratulated Dilworth and indicated that those who forecast his retirement to political oblivion were sadly mistaken.

In Pittsburgh, the Commonwealth's second largest metropolitan area, Democrat Joseph Barr was elected mayor over Paul Reinhold. Barr, former state Democratic chairman, is a protégé of Gov. David L. Lawrence who had been chief executive of the Steel City until he took over control of the state government in January.

Here's the way the two judge contests stood early Wednesday with 3,981 of 9,006 precincts reported:

Supreme Court:
Eagan, Lackawanna County Democrat, 816,903.
Blair F. Gunther, Pittsburgh Republican, 719,227.
Superior Court:
Montgomery, Pittsburgh Democrat, 808,690.
Albert W. Johnson, Smethport Republican, 706,690.

These figures included 745 of Philadelphia's 1,606 precincts, and 510 of Allegheny County's 1,225.

On the basis of early returns voters favored two changes in the state constitution, but were opposing the third.

Running ahead with "yes" votes were constitutional amendments that would have the Legislature meet annually, and giving persons the right to vote from old addresses if they move within 60 days of an election.

A proposal to increase the borrowing capacity of Pennsylvania's 2,300 school districts was running behind in votes of approval.

Democrats Lead Voting

EASTON — Democrats took all top posts in Northampton County in yesterday's general election, it was reported last night.

A controversy, however, arose over the vote count for the two Republican candidates for county commissioners, as totals by the officials counting the votes and GOP headquarters differed. It was expected the matter would ironed out by this morning.

The Democratic Candidates for the commissioner posts, though, came through to win for their party.

The vote for the county Health Dept. for Northampton County showed the voters disapproved of the move, voting against its establishment by totals of 18,655 no and 16,292 yes.

Heimbach Leads Rival In Carbon

JIM THORPE — With 57 of 61 districts in at 11:30 p.m. last night, Albert Heimbach, GOP candidate for Carbon County judge, had a total of 10,813 votes against 9,865 for Democrat Carl N'ehoff.

In other races, the Republicans won almost every post up for election in the county, it was reported at the same hour.

Jointure Foe Loses To Dutt

UPPER MOUNT BETHEL — Voters here went against the strenuous efforts of the local Taxpayers Assn. by electing Robley Dutt, Democrat, over the association's favored write-in candidate, Bert Transee.

Dutt is for the six-district jointure with Bangor, which the taxpayers' group opposed.

Police Still Seek Name Of Skeleton

EASTON—State Police here are still trying to determine the identity of the skeleton of a woman found Monday by three hunters four miles north of Easton on the banks of the Delaware River.

The remains of the body were taken to Easton Hospital where investigators are checking the bones for any sign of identification.

Easton Hospital reported a partial autopsy had been performed on the remains, and the results showed the woman was between 25 and 35 years old, had blonde hair and had died approximately four or five years ago. She was five feet, three inches to five feet, five inches tall.

Blow On Head

The woman had received a sharp blow on the head shortly before she died, Dr. A. D. Childsey, Easton Hospital pathologist reported.

An area dentist, who police did not identify, is presently checking the teeth in hopes of finding some mark that would prove who the woman was.

Dental work on the body showed there was an upper bridge for her rear teeth, and a gold clip bridge and about eight teeth still left in the jaw. Two silver capped teeth bridged an artificial tooth on the lower right jaw.

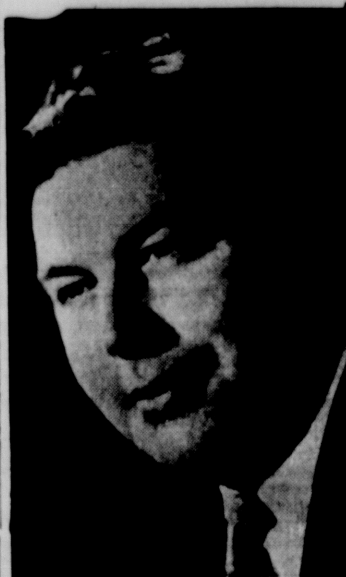

During the autopsy, it was also determined the woman had been pregnant from five to seven months at the time of her death.

Several persons, who still have not heard of members of their families lost in the 1955 Hurricane Diane floods, have been called in, but as yet the identity remains a mystery.

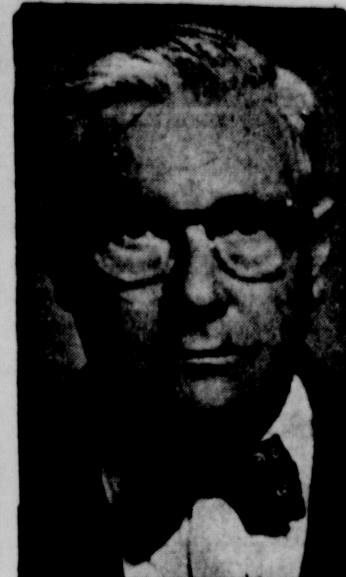

Bits of a blue and white dress were still clinging to the bones when they were found by the trio of hunters from Martins Creek.

Monroe County Coroner Daniel G. Warner said last night that he has heard nothing definite from the State Police concerning the woman.

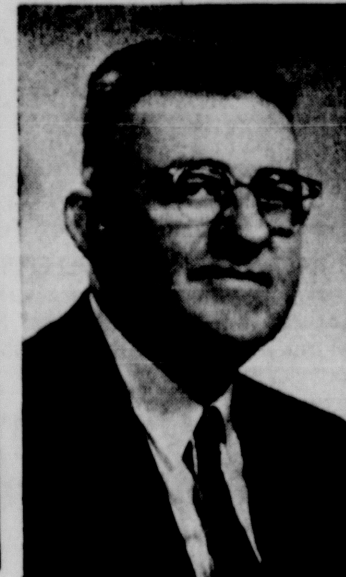

State Police have asked that any persons knowing of a woman, answering this description, who is missing, to report to the Easton Sub-station of the unit.

Israelis Vote For Parliament

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israelis voted for a new parliament Tuesday in a quiet election. Premier David Ben-Gurion's Mapai labor party appeared certain to continue its dominance but without a majority.

About four-fifths of the little nation's 1,200,000 eligible voters cast ballots despite unseasonal heat and a lack of national issues.

Marsh Polls High Vote; Quick Wins Fifth Term

DEMOCRATIC incumbents—with one notable exception—were continued in office by Monroe County voters in yesterday's general election.

The lone exception was for the position of register and recorder, for which Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Republican, in her first try for public office, defeated Floyd Butz, Democratic incumbent, by 6,398 votes to 6,041 in unofficial totals. Butz was seeking a fourth term.

Successfully retaining their offices were Sheriff Jacob F. Altomose, N. Henry Fenner, prothonotary and clerk of courts, and John R. Lesoine and Willard L. Quick, Democrat county commissioners.

Altomose polled 6,468 votes to 6,002 for Melvin L. Reese, Republican, a retired State Police trooper, to win a third term. Fenner had 6,440 votes to 5,541 for Clarence S. Rutt, Republican.

Reelect Commissioners
Lesoine and Quick, assuring Democratic control of the commission will continue, polled 6,761 and 5,870 votes respectively. It will be Quick's fifth term, although they were interrupted by one term out of office.

Stanley B. Rader won the Republican seat on the commission with 5,955. The other candidate, C. A. (Phyl) Nauman, Republican, polled 5,724 votes.

James R. Marsh, Democrat, won the right to replace Delfe A. Hansen as district attorney, by receiving 7,517 votes to 4,889 for Edwin Krawitz, the Republican nominee. Hansen did not seek reelection. Marsh polled the most votes of any candidate during yesterday's election.

Harry T. Hamblin and Walter D. Heckman, both Democrats, won associate judge posts with 6,729 and 6,541 votes respectively, defeating George Graff and Mrs. Eva M. Taylor, Republicans, who polled 5,470 and 5,083 votes.

Auditor Posts

Mahlon S. Besecker and James V. Cadue were successful Democratic candidates for county auditor posts with 6,586 and 6,146 votes respectively. The Republican candidates were Mrs. Mary Emma Teeter Garcia, who won the minority seat on the board with 5,008 votes and Mrs. Olive Brenn with 5,008.

More than 12,500 voters—some two-thirds of the county's 18,866 total registration—cast ballots during the election.

Eagan, Montgomery Edge Rivals In Monroe County

MONROE COUNTY voters gave Democratic candidates for State Supreme and Superior Court judgeships margins of less than 1,000 votes each in yesterday's general election. They also approved two of three proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Judge Michael J. Eagan of Lackawanna County, Democratic candidate for a 21-year term on the Supreme Court, polled 6,296 votes in the county to 5,357 for Superior Court Judge Blair F. Gunther of Pittsburgh.

Judge Harry M. Montgomery of Allegheny County, Democratic nominee for the 10-year Superior Court term, had 6,137 votes to 5,317 for Rep. Albert W. Johnson of Smethport, House Republican floor leader.

On the constitutional amendments, county voters approved annual sessions of the Legislature.

They also approved by a vote of 2,748 to 723 an amendment which would allow a voter to cast a ballot in his old precinct if he moves to another section of the Commonwealth within 60 days before an election.

Rejected by a vote of 2,025 to 1,391 was a proposed amendment which would increase the borrowing capacity of approximately 2,300 public school districts in Pennsylvania.

NOW RETIRED—Frank Hardy, 70, of Analomink, retired last Friday from the DL&W after more than 54 years service with the railroad. He is shown with his grandson, Tommy Lockard, 13 months pointing out the parts of a miniature railroad engine and caboose.

Frank Hardy Retires After Long Service With Railroad

A HAILE AND hearty Analomink man, 70 years young, has retired as a foreman with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad after 54 and one-half years service.

Frank Hardy began his service with the line in the early months of 1905, and was made an extra gang foreman in 1912. Since then he has worked for the railroad without let-up since his formal retirement Friday, Oct. 30.

Born and raised in Cresco, Hardy moved to Analomink in 1912, and that same year, June 12, he was married. He has two sons and two daughters, and 19 grandchildren.

One of his favorite hobbies is hunting, and yesterday he sold a reporter he had just returned from a short jaunt through the near-by woods.

Weed Dispute Disappoints Health Board

EAST Stroudsburg's Board of Health last night expressed disappointment that Borough Council "has not backed this board" in a dispute over the borough's weed-cutting ordinance.

The board asked council's health committee to meet with it on Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in an attempt "to straighten this situation out."

Council voted to have all its members attend the session. It was pointed out that the board is appointed by council and is subject to council approval on its actions.

The dispute grew out of a difference of opinion over the Rake property. Council indicated it considered the dispute a matter of appearance, rather than one of health.

Activities Listed
The board's objection to council interference was contained in its monthly report, which also showed:

Nineteen inspections of eating and drinking places; 27 health certificates collected bringing the total to date to 221; seven inspections of unsanitary conditions, with five abated and two pending and one from August and four from September abated; eight animals removed from streets; five weed complaints abated; one case of Salomonella reported; approved purchase of 400 health certificates for use of health officer.

Other reports:
Police department—Motor violations 22; penal violations 14; fines to borough $240; fines to state $85.

Payroll, Oct. 1 to Oct. 29—Water fund: Maintenance of mains, $62; equipment maintenance, $18.10; mowing reservoir, $24; borough shed, $98; diversion ditch, $738.40; total, $990.50.

General fund: Other highway care, $265.80; Highway fund: surface treatment, $400; street signs and markings, $40.40; total, $446.20. Grand total: $1,696.70.

Isaac DeHaven, Monta C. Strong and Patrick J. Horgan were the Democrats elected, while Henry Cruse, the GOP side of the ballot, received three votes against one vote for Harry Rider.

Totals given for the post were: DeHaven, 213; Strong, 193 and Horgan, 188. Cruse had 189 votes for the Republicans while losers on the GOP side were Charles Brock with 177 votes, Robert M. Passante with 181 votes, and George W. Wendley with 162 votes.

School Director

Council Made No Offers For Flood Control Lands

EAST STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night emphasized again that the borough has made no offers to any property owners for land needed for the proposed flood control project on the Brodheads and McMichaels Creeks.

"We thought we'd get the land free," Sterling Cramer, borough manager, told Council. "Then the first two persons we interviewed indicated they wanted paid."

Cramer said he and Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess, who interviewed the property owners, are "letting them set their own prices."

Condemnation
C. R. Bensinger, borough solicitor, indicated that preparation of an ordinance providing for condemnation of land needed for the program must await a final map from the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

Bensinger said the department is currently revising the maps in an effort to cut down the amount of land needed for dikes and other flood control necessities.

Cramer pointed out that the borough must pay for the rights-of-way. The state provides no money for rights-of-way for flood control projects, unlike highway projects, he added.

East Stroudsburg Takes Step Preliminary To Zoning Borough

Authorizes Contract For Planning

EAST Stroudsburg Borough Council last night authorized the proper officers to sign a $6,000 contract for planning services as a preliminary to a zoning ordinance for the borough.

Candeb, Cabot and Associates, Scranton, will do the work as recommended by the borough's planning commission. The $6,000 provides for the firm's services for a period of 18 months or until such time as state planning funds are available.

Council also accepted the recommendation of the commission and named Mrs. Howard Atwell as a member of the group.

In other action, Council:

Water Pressure

Approved purchase of two automatic air release valves to be installed in the E. Broad St. water main to increase pressure on that street.

Directed C. R. Bensinger, borough solicitor, to prepare an ordinance providing for one-way movement and other traffic regulations on Brown, Bridge, S. Courtland and Washington Sts.

Accepted an invitation to visit the sanitary landfill operated by Kingston Borough on Saturday morning. The group will leave East Stroudsburg's Municipal Building at 8 a.m.

Heard Herman Smeltz, local businessman, laud the action of Council in moving toward planning and zoning.

Referred to the street committee a request from Al Hertz for use of four parking meter spaces in front of the Pocono Cab Co. office for a Greyhound bus stop.

Authorized Hertz to continue capping two meters for bus use as previously authorized by Borough Manager Sterling Cramer.

Four Council Jobs Go To Republicans

In the Second Ward, Walter Warrick was elected, and in the Third Ward Samuel Hicks and Henry Thomas were in, while in the Fourth Ward, Leonard Gruppox was the winner. The latter four are all Republicans.

For the three openings on the School Board, two Republicans were also elected, as Mrs. Charlotte Hough and Dr. Nicholas Casario were the winners for the GOP. Edward Linaberry was the lone Democrat elected to the board.

Ruth Brown Is Winner

RUTH BROWN was elected borough auditor of Stroudsburg in what promises to be the briefest write-in campaign on record. One voter, noting that no candidate was listed on either ticket for the post, wrote in her name and then spread the word.

Telephone calls and campaign cards did the trick, and she won the post with only five opposition write-ins, each for a different candidate. Mrs. Brown polled more than 20 votes.

NEWEST VOTING SPOT IN THE COUNTY—Election workers and voters perform their chores in the newest polling place in Monroe County yesterday. Site is Clearview School, an Eastern Middle Stroud District.

The lone Democratic victory went to Pearly D. Hunt, who polled 174 votes to 128 for William Wallie, his Republican opponent, for Fifth Ward councilman.

Decision Overdue

Debate over the Murray-Metcalf bill continues more or less beneath the surface. This bill, which provides for funds from the federal treasury as an aid to education, has lost its major forum now that Congress is in adjournment.

But the measure is almost certain to be a live issue in the second session, if it can elbow other less important bills aside. The issue of federal aid to education, like one or two other issues, arouses deep-seated passions on both sides.

As a matter of fact, the intelligent man who has bothered to inform himself could easily have reached the point of suspended judgment. But the ac-knowledgeed insufficiencies in American education will force a decision on this great question.

Many parents and proponents of federal aid believe the business of education has grown too large to be considered a local project alone. But one of the fears remains that with federal subsidy goes federal control.

This need not be so. Who could argue convincingly that present programs of state aid have meant educational systems dominated by state governments?

The question is far from resolved. It promises to be in the public eye for some time to come. But the moment of decision should not be postponed longer than necessary to give a full hearing to both sides.

Autumn Leaflets

George Sokolsky Says...

Buy American

Senator Fulbright objects to the use of the phrase, "Buy American," because it might offend somebody who wants to sell something in this country that was not made in the United States. Whether we buy American or buy British or Polish, we always seem to offend everybody anyhow.

Prime Minister Macmillan, when he was here last, complained about our not buying electrical equipment from Great Britain; the Polish want us to buy Polish hams; the French want us to buy French wines and cognacs but they put a narrow quota on American-made products.

It would seem that the United States is always wrong no matter what we do. Trade became a one way street when the world wanted American dollars, as long as it was the most stable currency. The British worried about the "dollar gap."

Laws were passed governing the export of American dollars from most countries, many of which were in economic distress, depending upon American bounty. It is not possible to buy American goods without exporting some American dollars; therefore many countries which were receiving American aid chose not to buy American goods. They hoarded the dollars.

Some of the countries which were helped so graciously are now well off. Great Britain is on her feet. West Germany is economically sound. France is in less economic trouble than she has been in years. One can go among the nations of the world today and find considerable stability.

But the United States is in difficulties. This country is facing an awkward inflationary period. Our gold reserve has been petering out and although the ear-marked gold remains in our possession, the beneficial owners of much of it are other countries. The dollar is rapidly depreciating in value.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Robert B. Anderson, has faced this problem most courageously. He has told the trading nations that the value of the dollar must be protected and that restrictions upon trade with the United States must be removed or lessened if the dollar is not to collapse. The British responded favorably to that appeal, particularly.

Two points stand out however in underscoring the influence Pennsylvania Democrats, primarily through the person of David Leo Lawrence, will wield next year in the selection of the 1960 Democratic presidential candidate:

(1) In addition to the stature or rank he already has attained within national party circles, Mr. Lawrence now also holds the added stripe of being a governor—and the Governor or whopping big, delegate-heavy Pennsylvania at that.

(2) He is Pennsylvania's second Democratic governor in a row, who like his predecessor, Governor George M. Leader, won their vote notwithstanding healthy registration leads held by opposition Republicans of the Keystone State.

On the national level this latter point represents what many feel is a new swing in trend in big and important Pennsylvania, from its long entrenched Republican domination to Democratic domination. This of course may or may not be the case but it nevertheless is indicative of the view held by national party leaders at this point.

Thus Pennsylvania Democrats when they walk onto the floor of the national nominating convention next year will do so with the biggest influence stick they have ever wielded.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania can expect to see a step-up in the tempo of troopings of prospective candidates and their backers around the Lawrence gubernatorial threshold atop Capitol Hill.

News From The Realm Of Stamps

By Ray Patton
Visitors to this year's National Postage Stamp Show—at the 71st Infantry Regiment Armory, Park Ave. and 34th St., New York City—on Nov. 20, 21 and 22—will see on exhibition thirty frames of the most philatelic material that is normally kept under lock and key in Federal archives at Washington.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has promised to search his postal archives in Washington. He plans to withdraw from said archives more than $1,000,000 worth of stamps and transfer them to the 71st Infantry Regiment Armory. Many of the stamps will be displayed in complete sheets in mint, gummed condition.

Represented are the one through ten cents of the 1904 Louisiana Purchase commemorative; the one through five cents of the 1907 Jamestown series; the Lincoln perfs, imperfs and blue papers; the two cent perf and imperf of the 1909 Alaska-Yukon issue; the complete Panama-Pacific Exposition series of 1913-15; the rare blue paper items of 1909; the earliest air mails and the Graf Zeppelin, in complete sheets; and the famous 24c invert of 1918.

He's Unreasonable

Dear Abby: We live in the country and our mailman has just bought himself a new car. His new car is too low to reach the mailboxes, so he wants all the people on his route to lower their mailboxes to 37 inches.

The base of our mailbox is cemented in. Do you think we should go to all that trouble to lower our mailbox when sooner or later we will have a new mailman who will probably want us to raise it again?

TOO HIGH.

Dear Abby: Are we supposed to be ashamed to thank God for our food in public? My wife passed away two years ago and left me with an eight-year-old son. We have always said our blessing before each meal at home.

I have been courting a very nice woman for six months. She is my age (36) has never been married and is a registered nurse. Last Sunday we all dined out. My son proceeded to say his blessing before eating. She gave him a look and he stopped. When we got in the car she bawled him out for saying "grace" in a restaurant and said such things are not done in public.

I feel that I should say something to my boy to explain her actions. Or is she right I am at a loss. Any suggestions?

PUZZLED MAN.

Dear Fuzzled: First you better say something to the woman. There is nothing wrong with saying "Grace" in public. If she would "bawl out" your son for an act which is truly commendable—take a closer look at her. How fortunate for you to have caught this glimpse of her ignorance and cruelty so early in your courtship.

Dear Abby: We have a friend who, after umpteenth miscarriages, finally gave up and adopted two children. They are now 3 and 5. Yes, they are darling (but spoiled) children and we are all happy for her. BUT, Abby, she will start out like this, "I can brag about my children because I had nothing to do with it. . . ." and then she will go on for hours bragging about her children.

Just because the children are adopted and she "had nothing to do with it," does this give her a right to bore everybody with their cute sayings and doings? And how can we shut her up?

HER FRIENDS.

Dear Friends: No one has a "right" to bore anyone with cute sayings and doings of children, be they of their own blood or bone or adopted. You cannot "shut her up," but can "tip her off" if you are friendly enough. Or you can avoid her.

Dear Abby: Tell that dentist who insisted on being called "DOCTOR" that his knowledge of dental surgery may not suffice. I suggest he call a physician to help him get his foot out of his mouth.

Reports From Congress

Old Policy To Stick

By Congressional Quarterly
Washington—Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), who lost one spirited fight with the Eisenhower Administration this year, appears destined to lose another.

Like the first clash, the new one concerns the Development Loan Fund, set up by Congress in 1957 to channel long-term, low-interest loans to the underdeveloped countries of the world.

It was Fulbright, as Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who led this year's campaign to shore up DIF's resources by giving it authority to borrow $1 billion a year for five years from the U.S. Treasury. When the President, coached by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, opposed the scheme, it met a quick death in the Senate.

Now the President, again at Anderson's behest, has approved a new policy requiring recipients of DIF loans to spend these dollars in the United States. To Fulbright, this is adding insult to injury; he himself beat off an attempt to hang a similar rider on the mutual security bill this year.

Congress to go along—But there is little evidence that Fulbright will find the necessary support in Congress to countermand the new "Buy American" policy. Not only are many domestic interests inclined favorably toward such a policy; it also represents the type of restrictions that Congress, in dealing with foreign policy issues, is accustomed to impose, not to remove.

Congressional Quiz

Possible VP Candidates

By Congressional Quarterly
VARIOUS prominent politicians are being mentioned frequently as Vice Presidential possibilities for 1960. What do you know about these men and the offices they hold? Try for four correct answers.

(1) Q—Frequently mentioned as a potential Democratic Vice Presidential nominee is a Representative from Connecticut who also has served as Ambassador to India. He is (a) Emilio Daddario; (b) Donald S. Irving; (c) Chester W. Bowles?

A—(c). Bowles in addition has served as a special assistant to the Secretary General of the United Nations and as Governor of Connecticut.

(2) Q—One of the few men who has publicly announced his candidacy for the Vice Presidential nomination is the House Minority Leader. He is (a) Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.); (b) Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.); (c) Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-Ill.)?

A—(b). Halleck Sept. 20 said he "would answer yes" if asked to accept the Republican Vice Presidential nomination.

(3) Q—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating also has been mentioned as a Republican Vice Presidential nominee. Keating is from (a) Massachusetts; (b) Connecticut; (c) New York?

A—(c). Keating, elected to the Senate in 1958, was formerly a Representative from New York.

(4) Q—New Jersey's Governor has been named as a possible Democratic Vice Presidential nominee. His name is (a) Robert B. Meyner; (b) Clinton A. Clausen; (c) J. Cahill Boggs?

A—(a). Meyner has been Governor of New Jersey since 1953.

In fact, there is some question as to whether Congress could reverse the new policy, short of writing a law requiring DIF dollars to be sent abroad—an obvious impossibility.

The President appears to have ample authority for the action taken; present law relating to foreign aid grants specifies that these may be used for purchases abroad "unless the President determines that such procurement will result in adverse effects upon the economy of the United States, with special reference to any area of labor surplus, or upon the industrial mobilization or to the net position of the United States in its balance of trade with the rest of the world which outweigh the economic advantages to the United States of less costly procurement abroad."

Balance of Payments—The "balance of trade" phrase, oddly, was added to the law this year by the House Foreign Affairs Committee and is precisely the basis on which Secretary Anderson insisted on the new "Buy American" Policy. With a balance-of-payments deficit of $3.4 billion in 1958 and an estimated $4 billion in 1959, the U.S. has been losing both gold and dollars to other nations; Anderson wants to stop the process, in part by using foreign aid dollars to boost U.S. exports.

A preview of the current debate was staged last July, when Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) proposed an amendment to the mutual security bill, to require that 75 percent of the dollars loaned by DIF be spent in the U.S. unless the President determined otherwise. The amendment was needed, Ellender said, to "prevent the flow of our gold reserves" to other countries.

Opposing the amendment, Fulbright argued that the outflow of gold "which had accumulated in this country at Fort Knox in unnatural amounts" reflected the success of the Marshall Plan in strengthening the economies of Europe and stimulating international trade.

The Ellender amendment was rejected, by a voice vote. Its defeat, however, reflected less the Senate's considered opinion of the "Buy American" concept than its general tendency to reject legislation, especially if vaguely worded, when it is opposed by the responsible committee chairman.

For Fulbright to push through a countervailing bill would be quite another matter. It is most unlikely that a majority of the Senate, not to mention the House, is prepared to record itself in favor of "redistributing the chips" in this fashion. Fulbright's best hope may lie in negotiating a compromise with the Administration, if that is possible.

The Pennsylvania Story

Big Influence Stick

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg—With yesterday's general election now one day deep in the pages of history, it's on to 1960 and a critical presidential election year with Pennsylvania destined to play a key role—in the Democratic camp at least.

upcoming 1960 hoedown which in addition to being a presidential election year, is also a congressional election year.

And—1960 is a legislative election year which will determine whether Pennsylvania's lawmaking body is to continue politically split as now or fall fully into administration or anti-administration hands.

Turning to the national scene, Pennsylvania Democrats will have a more influential voice in overall party policy and strategy deliberations than ever before.

Much of this of course can be laid at the doorstep of Pennsylvania's Democratic Governor David L. Lawrence, the political old pro with half a century of Democratic politics on the local, state and national levels under his belt.

Oftimes referred to as "Mr. Democrat of Pennsylvania," Mr. Lawrence has not attained his stature or ranking within the Democratic hierarchy on the national level exclusively by virtue of the fact that he has become governor.

To the contrary, his fundamental stature in this respect was gained over the years preceding his movement into the gubernatorial den atop Capitol Hill.

Pennsylvania's 70-year-old chief executive has been in the thick of things on the national party level for more numerous years than many care to recall. Even prior to his election as Pennsylvania's 39th chief executive, he served as Pennsylvania's national committee chairman—a post he still holds.

Two points stand out however in underscoring the influence Pennsylvania Democrats, primarily through the person of David Leo Lawrence, will wield next year in the selection of the 1960 Democratic presidential candidate:

(1) In addition to the stature or rank he already has attained within national party circles, Mr. Lawrence now also holds the added stripe of being a governor—and the Governor or whopping big, delegate-heavy Pennsylvania at that.

Association Distributes Book Covers

POCONO Forestry Assn. has distributed 1000 "good outdoor manners book covers" to the high schools in Monroe County within the last week. The covers were presented to the science teachers in each school for distribution to the students in the science curriculum.

This project was adopted by the association to help "Howdy, The Racoon" present his message of good outdoor manners to the school children in the area.

The colorful cover has a picture of Howdy with a list of good outdoor manners on one side while the other section depicts 11 bad outdoor manners and challenges the pupil to find them.

Howdy Contest

Also attached to each cover is an entrance blank for the Howdy pledge contest. The purpose of the contest is to secure a pledge to be used in promoting the Pennsylvania Forestry Assn. good outdoor manners project. The prizes, all in U. S. Savings Bonds, total $375.

Civic organizations interested in helping the Pocono Forestry Assn. to sponsor the distribution of additional covers may contact the association at P. O. Box 175, East Stroudsburg, for all particulars.

'The Daily Investor'

Contractual Vs. Voluntary Plan

By William A. Doyle
Q. You have often written about systematic investment plans for acquiring shares of mutual funds. You have pointed out that, in a contractual systematic plan, most of the commissions are paid by the investor during the first year or so that the plan is in operation. That is known as the "front-end load." If the investor does not complete the plan, he is "penalized" because of the heavy commissions he paid early in the plan.

But, as you know, not all systematic plans are contractual. Most of them are voluntary. In a voluntary plan, the commissions on each payment are level. There is no "front-end load." An investor can stop his payments into a voluntary plan at any time, without any "penalty."

Many investment dealers refuse to handle contractual plans. Even so, the voluntary systems aren't nearly as well known as the contractual. Don't you agree that voluntary plans should be explained to your readers?

A. Agreed. And you have done a crackjack job of explaining them.

Actually, this ground has been covered in this column before. But it's worth going over again. It's pretty clear that you're dead set against contractual plans. I'm not going to take sides in that argument.

The one big point you leave out is that it isn't necessary to use a systematic plan at all. You can make lump-sum purchases of any number of shares of any mutual fund—just as you would any other stock. That's another thing many people are foggy about.

Your flat statement that "most" systematic plans for acquiring mutual fund shares are voluntary may be open to some argument.

It is true that shares of most (perhaps all) mutual funds can be accumulated on a voluntary basis. Only a relatively small number of funds make their shares available through contractual plans.

The contractual plan movement is growing—despite considerable opposition from some quarters. Mostly, that's because Americans seem to like the idea of "forced" installment buying and because contractual plans are a better deal for salesmen.

However, to list all the pros and cons of contractual plans would take more space than is available here.

Q. What do you think of a brokerage house that has discretionary powers on a certain account of about $30,000? Of the seven different stocks purchased for that account, not one is listed on the New York or American Stock Exchanges. They are all over-the-counter stocks.

A. It all depends on what stocks are involved. Not all the good stocks are listed on stock exchanges. Some of the finest securities and some of the worst "cats and dogs" are traded on the over-the-counter market.

Don't knock a stock just because it isn't listed on a securities exchange. There is actually much more trading of securities in the "counter" market than there is on the stock exchanges.

If the stocks are of the quality that are suited for the individual account, the broker has acted correctly. The same thing could be said if the stocks are all listed on securities exchanges.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Dale Learn Heads Forestry Association

THE 57th ANNUAL dinner meeting of the Pocono Forestry Assn. was held at the Pocono Township Fire Hall in Tannersville.

Thomas Knepp of Stroudsburg served as toastmaster. Frank Michaels gave the invocation and asked the 74 persons in attendance to observe a moment's silence in honor of the late John H. Kunkle, president of the association at the time of his death.

The short business meeting conducted by President Dale Learn included the election of officers and directors for 1960. Elected were:

President: Dale Learn, East Stroudsburg; honorary president, Charles N. Thompson, Buck Hill; first vice president, M. E. Leffler, Delaware Water Gap; second vice president, Mrs. Elwood Grant, East Stroudsburg; secretary, E. F. McNamara, East Stroudsburg; treasurer, Paul D. Whelan, East Stroudsburg.

Directors

The following were elected as directors:

Three year term — George Raish, Tannersville; Frank Michaels, Stroudsburg; Sterling Wagner, Pocono Lake.

Two year term — Norman Dietrick, East Stroudsburg; Jacob Kintz, Marshalls Creek; Walter Wyckoff, Shawnee-on-Delaware.

One year term — Frank Buser, Stroudsburg; Alvin Luckey, Bartonsville; Robert Stadden, Tannersville.

The three conservation projects approved by the directors were presented to the group by Secretary McNamara. They are: (1). Provide a cash award for the Monroe County Science Fair.

(2). Purchase and distribute 1000 good outdoor book covers to the science students in the Monroe County schools.

(3). Obtain a tree planter for use in Spring 1960 for those interested in planting trees in the Pocono area.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Toastmaster Knepp introduced Dr. A. C. McIntyre, editor of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association Magazine, and project director of the good outdoor manners educational project. Dr. McIntyre gave a brief history of "Howdy," the selected symbol for good outdoor manners and mentioned how the project has developed to a greater degree than anyone ever expected.

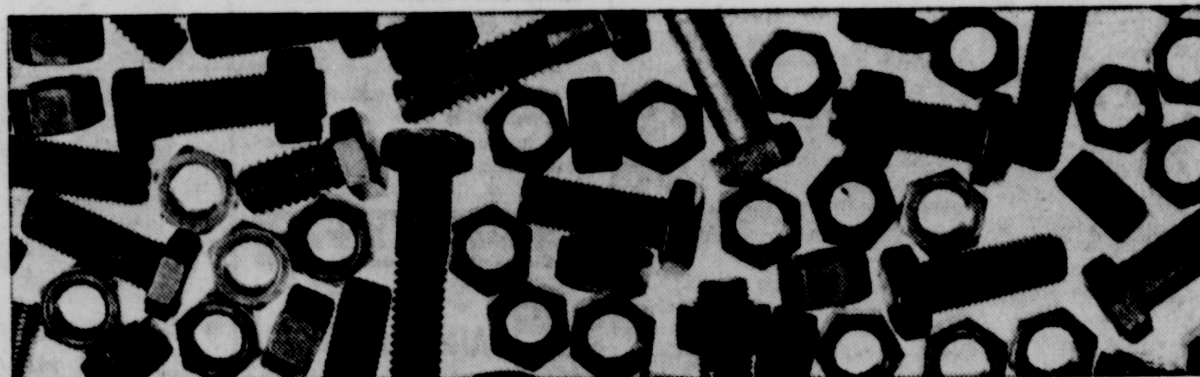

Goddard Speaks

Knepp then introduced the main speaker, Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters. Dr. Goddard presented the association with a challenge to "Keep The Pocono Green and Clean" and went on to point out how dependent the Pocono area is on its forests and waters.

Dr. Goddard also pointed out that the demand for space is increasing at an alarming rate and each year the publicly owned lands become more and more important in the overall picture for outdoor recreation. He also pointed out that income from the 1,800,000 acres of Pennsylvania State Forest land in each of the last five years exceeded the cost of acquiring these lands. All of this money is returned to the State Treasury.

THESE ARE SOME OF THE NUTS, BOLTS AND SCREWS THAT WERE NOT PUT INTO THE BODY AND FRAME OF THE 1960 PLYMOUTH.

They can't loosen and rattle because they're not there. Instead, Chrysler engineers now bring you Dura-Quiet Unibody: a body and frame that's a single unit welded around 5400 times for super strength. You will feel and hear the difference the first mile you drive the Solid Plymouth for 1960.

Expect a pleasant new experience when you first try the '60 Plymouth. What happened to the "car sounds" you used to think were normal? They're gone, in the new Solid Plymouth. They were built out of it from the start. And they won't appear later to haunt you, because this car is built to stay quiet for a long, long time.

Quiet durability is only one of the advantages of solid Unibody construction. You'll notice unusual new comfort as well, and new handling ease.

We think this is the best built, best performing car in the low-price class. Try it and see what you think.

New Sports Field Proposed For Local Teachers College

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — In addition to the $1,775,000 building program now under way at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College a new athletic field and service building and garage will be constructed at the college if the budget requests of the State Department of Public Instruction—now before the Legislature—receive final legislative and gubernatorial approval. The Daily Record learned yesterday.

With the exception of minor and emergency construction to cost an estimated $51,000, the newly scheduled projects are designated to be financed by the General State Authority.

Provision for the most recently proposed projects was made in an amendment to existing law which would increase the borrowing capacity of the GSA to $626,200,000. The measure already has passed third and final reading in the House of Representatives and is now in the Senate Rules Committee.

Replace Present Field

Department plans call for construction of a new athletic field to include 10 tennis courts, a soccer field, hockey field and a general practice football field. The new project would replace the existing athletic field upon which it is planned to build proposed dormitory buildings. Cost of the new field was placed at $94,600.

The department said the service building and garage would provide "urgently needed" storage space for automotive and other equipment. Estimated cost of the structure was placed by the department at $65,400.

The minor and emergency construction included in the department program for the college — to cost $51,000 — would be paid from the general fund appropriation.

Under construction at the college at the present time are a women's dormitory, $682,000; combination library and administration building, $755,000; and a science class building, $338,000. All the projects are being financed by GSA.

The state borrow and build agency said it has allocated $95,000 for construction of a special education building at the college from the total of $1,250,000 set aside for similar education programs at various educational institutions throughout the state.

GSA said plans for that structure are being prepared.

Cape Cod Dollhouse Is Unusual

THE CAPE COD style dollhouse is quite unusual. It not only provides a complete house that can be furnished and rearranged according to the whims and fancies of the decorator but it also can be taken apart and stored away in a neat packing box which acts as a platform for the house.

The front wall is easily removed to permit access to the first floor rooms, while the hinged roof swings up and permits play in the rooms of the second floor. Building this house can be lots of fun! No special tools or skills are required to turn out a professional job.

If you do happen to have a saber saw you'll find making this house a lark. All you do is trace the pattern directly on the panelboard the pattern specifies, and, following step by step directions, cut out each part to the exact shape of the pattern.

Full Size Guides

Even the painting guides are full size to further simplify making and finishing the dollhouse with professional results assured.

Through a simple, unique slotted method of construction the house can be assembled or dismantled in a matter of minutes. This is an added feature since it raises the house sufficiently off the floor to provide additional visibility.

Send 50 cents in check, coin or money order for Packaway Dollhouse Pattern No. 596 to The Daily Record, P.O. Box 215, Pleasantville, N.Y. Send 35 cents additional for 64 page catalog illustrating over 300 other build it yourself projects. For first-class mail add 25 cents.

Design H-549

House: 1,281 sq. ft. 13,800 cu. ft.

Everything You Want In This House

A HANDSOME exterior keynotes the serenity and individuality of this home. Good design achieves the sweeping hug-the-ground effect so popular among today's ranch homes. "Country" charm is expressed by the columned sheltered porch and sheltered windows.

Inside, clever planning provides center hall convenience without hampering the openness of the living room. Exceptional daylighting floods this area, thanks to a huge front wall picture window. The home-maker will appreciate the amount of unbroken wall area facilitating periodical re-grouping of furniture arrangements.

The homemaker will also be delighted with the kitchen and family room combinations. A U-design furnishes the kitchen with maximum amount of cupboard and counter space, while preserving step-saving efficiency. A counter peninsula separates the kitchen from the family room. Windows on three sides plus a French door access to the rear terrace qualifies this room as the perfect eating place.

The utility room completes this daytime living area. With room size dimensions, the utility room can accommodate laundry appliances, utilities with room remaining for a sewing center or workshop.

On the opposite side of the interior are the three large bedrooms and split bath. All of the bedrooms have large walk-in wardrobe closets with a "his and hers" bonus in the master bedroom.

The split bath with its two entrances offers the convenience of a bath-and-a-half while construction costs are little more than that of a one bath home.

Indeed, there's nothing missing in this plan.

This plan conforms to FHA, V.A. and building code requirements. The plan contains 1,281 sq. ft., 13,800 cu. ft. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

"Complete Building Plan, including detail sheet, material list, and specification guide for Des. No. H-549 may be purchased for $9.75 for 1st set; $18.25 for 2; $26.25 for 3; or $33.75 for 4.

More Storage Space Than Formerly Needed To Qualify For FHA-Insured Mortgage

AP Newsfeatures

NEW standards by the Federal Housing Administration increase the amount of storage space which must be provided in every new house before it can be approved for an FHA-insured mortgage.

Under these regulations, every house must have at least 200 cubic feet for general storage purposes and 75 cubic feet of general storage space for each bedroom. This space must be provided in addition to closets in each bedroom, coat and linen closets and kitchen shelves for the storage of food, equipment and utensils.

The FHA states that at least 25 per cent of the required storage volume must be located inside the house. A minimum of 50 per cent also must be located where items used outdoors, such as lawn mowers, may be stored conveniently.

This storage space must be accessible to the outdoors and it must not be necessary to cross any habitable room to reach it. The additional 25 per cent of storage space may be located either indoors or outdoors.

Builders or individuals planning on FHA mortgages must, of course, conform to the regulations.

ulations. This is done in various ways, usually by the addition of a utility room or the construction of an exterior shed.

But the requirements are met automatically when there is a basement with an outside exit, basement with separate access to the outdoors provides low-cost floor space.

Dozens of storage ideas are being created to improve the basement's facilities. Among them are:

Can Be Moved "Storage wall" partitions to separate different areas; the workshop from the recreation room, for instance. Taking the place of fixed partitions, they can be moved around as necessary. These partitions can be custom built, if necessary, to solve particular storage problems.

"Seasonal storage walls" or cabinet-like compartments which can be placed near the basement entrance. In summer, a cabinet containing seasonal items is pushed into position for easy use. In winter, the cabinet and its contents are moved to an out-of-the-way section of the basement. Another cabinet, with winter equipment, replaces it.

"All-purpose walls," those with perforated hardboard surfaces to accommodate a variety of hooks that support shelves, tools, etc.

Cabinets formerly used upstairs but now discarded can be utilized downstairs for the laundry area. They can be used for soap powders, detergents and other necessary cleaning items. Since the basement usually occupies almost as much floor space as the first floor, there is far more space than is necessary for storage purposes alone. This extra space is fine for a playroom, home workshop or desired hobby area.

Turn Old Furniture Into New

AP Newsfeatures

IF YOU'RE not satisfied with that old-fashioned bed, turn it into a new-fashioned one.

You can do it either with an outmoded bedstead that has been relegated to attic or barn, or with the bed you now use. Headboards can be perked up with a variety of materials—leather, plastic, paint, wallpaper, felt and with odd motif to be found in furniture stores.

One can even purchase a bed conversion kit that helps convert an old bedstead into a new style bed. The kit is particularly useful where there is a good headboard but missing side rails.

The conversion kit contains a sturdy steel frame support for spring and mattress with adjustable plates that attach to almost any headboard dimension. It contains a choice of casters—plastic, nylon glides or rug rollers.

Placed on Frame

The adjustable frame is a new idea based on the Harvard bed frame used by people who don't want either headboard or footboard but want to keep spring and mattress as a bed. They place them on the frame.

The new expendable frame can be used on a twin or full size bed. It can be used the entire width of the frame.

An old four-poster could be painted all white with a yellow headboard—charming daffodil effect against a pale green wall. A young girl might prefer a pink-and-white scheme against a French blue wall.

An old-fashioned maple bed may be given an Early American flair by the addition of a variety store eagle, either metal or wood, and a pair of finials. Painted barn red it would look handsome against white walls with a quilted bedspread in blue, barn red and other patchwork quilt colors.

Many headboards that are evenly balanced without curls, curls take to the slipcover idea, and that makes for fun and seasonal change. In winter, felt could be used as a headboard and footboard cover, tightened with a draw string, hooked or snapped.

In spring, it could take on a more colorful floral motif. Designers and plaid corduroy are two washable slipcovers, ideal for a small boy's room.

Any number of handsome wallpaper prints lend themselves to headboards and footboards.

Just Between Us —

—by Bobby Westbrook

No matter how the election turns out, it was a beautiful election day — and from the number of people around my polling place, there seemed to be a lot more interest in the election than the wise-accres forecast for an "off-year" election.

However, maybe that's because we had our polling place repainted inside. Anyway it was bright and cheerful and the Civil Defense emblems and the map of the township on the wall were pleasant additions.

I've often thought that it was a shame that polling places are only used on election days, and was glad to see evidence that at least the CD was getting some use out of it. Be nice for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, town meetings — or New Year's Eve parties.

Well, maybe not. A lot of things which seem sensible at first glance turn out to be illegal or impractical.

Impossible — that's the way the family fare page seems to be to fill on election night. The political ads drop off to nothing — the space opens up, and people are so busy they forget to telephone. And the deadline is moved up.

However there were a lot of interesting items, like the stork beating the guests to the stork shower; or the youngster who played the organ in a recital with only a half hour's practice; or the hostess who couldn't get to the meeting but sent their dinner anyway.

But it still would be a lot easier to write this column after the returns are in than before the polls close on election day.

Harry Farleigh Feted On His 80th Birthday

RD on Saturday night in honor of the 80th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Blum's father, Harry J. Farleigh, of Mount Bethel, Mr. Farleigh is an ex-actor of Upper Mount Bethel Township, a position he filled for many years.

Dreams Do Come True If One Is Persistent

By Anne Heywood
"Flooding on-again - off - again dreams never come true," my grandfather used to say, "but a dream that is persistently entertained can't help coming true."

I think of that a good deal when I hear from people who want jobs that will take them traveling.

Comes At Crisis
Mostly, the desire comes to them when life is especially boring, or the job particularly frustrating, or the boy friend particularly irritating. They decide that if only they could go abroad, or move across the country, or get a job with an airline, life would again be interesting. But because these dreams are fleeting, nothing much comes of it.

Occasionally, however, I encounter somebody to whom the idea of jobs that take them traveling is a persistently entertained dream—and, as Grandpa said, this kind comes true.

Such a girl is one I met recently in Massachusetts, where I was visiting.

Danish Operator
I went in to have my hair cut at a local beauty salon and met the operator, whose name was Helga. She spoke quite good English, with a noticeably Danish accent, and had that vital, alert look that is so attractive. We chatted.

"I've always wanted to travel," Helga told me, "since I was eight or nine. There was no money in the family, so I knew I would have to manage it myself. I learned English and French and some Spanish and, whenever I could, I practiced with visitors to our town."

Decided On Hairdressing
"When it came time to select a vocation, I decided to be a hairdresser. I chose this because people need hairdressers all over the world, in good times or bad. Also, I like to help people to be more beautiful."

"I worked hard at it and went to the library to study fashion

THEY'LL ALL BE THERE: Rev. and Mrs. Francis M. Seeley and his family will take part in the World Community Day service on Friday night at Christ Episcopal Church under the auspices of the Monroe County Council of United Church Women. Rev. Seeley will speak and the children will sing. From left to right: Karen, Jonathan, Jennifer, the twins Joyce and Joan, Lucy and Ed.

Community Day Service On Friday

"Full Partners in Peace" will be the theme of the talk to be given by Rev. Francis M. Seeley at the World Community Day Service to be held this Friday night at 8 at the Christ Episcopal Church in Stroudsburg.

Rev. and Mrs. Seeley spent 12 years in Thailand where three of their eight children were born. First deciding on a career in music, Mr. Seeley entered the music school of the University of Michigan, later changing to liberal arts. He was graduated where he met and married his wife, and later from the McCormick Theological Seminary.

During their 12 years in Thailand, he initiated a literacy campaign among the people and worked closely with Buddhists in combating leprosy there. During a leave in the United States he was chairman of a committee at Cornell University charged with translating the Bible into Thai.

The children will sing during the service tonight in which women from many denominations will take part.

One of the features will be a dramatization of the needs of the world in the field of adult education centers for women by a group of church women dressed in the costumes of the country they represent.

Mrs. Roger Stimson, president of the Monroe Council of United Church Women will preside at the meeting which is open to all women.

Grace Aid Society

The Ladies Aid Society of Grace Lutheran Church will meet at noon today for luncheon with the meeting scheduled for 2 p.m.

Plans More Travel

"Well," she concluded, "I've been in America three years and now I plan to see the rest of Europe and then maybe South America. I think I have time for it before I marry. After all, I'm just twenty-four and I can wait a while."

Her eyes shone and you could see that she was one of the lucky ones who get a chance to live their dreams.

When she finished with me I was the last customer of the day—a charming young American man came to pick her up for a date.

If you're interested in a job that takes you traveling, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper.

But, mostly, be sure you really want it enough to work at it persistently!

No One Laughed When He Sat Down At The Organ -- Recital Pleases Crowd

Tannersville — Eleven-year-old Bruce Hartman discovered at an early age what it feels like to be plucked from the chorus and cast in a starring role before a capacity audience — and then to wow them!

The occasion was the Autumn Musical directed by Mrs. Jeanne Howell on Sunday night at the Tannersville Methodist Church. At the last minute, Mrs. Horace Werkheiser, scheduled organist, was unable to be present. Mrs. Howell asked Bruce Hartman to take over.

Bruce had never played the organ, but with two and a half years of piano lessons and practice behind him and a half-hour rehearsal before the recital he practiced on the organ and made a triumphant appearance in the organ prelude, offertory and postlude, with Ruth Howell joining him in the final numbers.

The church was decorated with autumn leaves and bronze mums, it was filled to capacity and all of the children played up to their best capacity.

Piano solos were presided by Randy Gortler, Wendy Stepp, Gail Hawk, Debra Trenholm, David Stepp, Richard Smith, Robert Gortler, Bradley Wise, Janet Davis and Jean Mullen in the first section which also featured accordion solos by Alfred Danisch and Harriet Horn and a piano duet by Barbara Jansen and Gail Gravett.

Lesson In Art For AAUW By Portrait Painter

Art is not a science, Jovan DeRocco explained to the members of the American Assn. of University Women at their meeting on Monday night at the Stroud Community House.

A native of Belgrade, he is a graduate of the University of Belgrade and was an architect in New York City before turning to art. He taught art at Sweet Briar College before devoting all of his time to portraiture.

Although painting is not a science, there are scientific principles in painting he indicated in two of the three main areas: form, and pattern, if not in idea.

Form, he explained, is shown in its purist form in primitive painting, and follows those forms found in nature. Nature has no straight lines or semicircles, but the cylinder, the cone and the sphere.

He demonstrated how each of these appear in portraiture. "Variety and unity are the soul of art," he said, and discussed the way in which light changes form, pattern and color.

He discussed color in some length and its relationship with other colors. Modern symbolism, he said, links green with time, orange with space and red with passion.

Mrs. Jack Lantz, president, presided at the meeting when new members were announced: Mrs. John Bollier, Dr. Ester Larson, Mrs. Edward Bollard, Mrs. Helen Booth, Mrs. Paul Maxwell and Mrs. Janice Stettler.

Announcement was made of the conference of the Philadelphia Branch on November 7 to which local members are invited. Reservations may be made until Thursday.

Miss Eloise Bryan announced that a social studies group would be organized if there were enough members interested.

The bridge group will meet November 13 at the home of Mrs. Roger Dunning.

Members were asked to bring talcum powder, gift wrapped, to the December meeting to be given to patients at the Allentown State Hospital at Christmas time.

Following the meeting, refreshments of Danish pastry and coffee were served from a table decorated with Danish wood carvings and greens by Mrs. Eugene Martin, Dr. Ester Larson and Mrs. LeRoy Koehler.

Let's Give Enough

"the friendly one"

A.R. Wyckoff Shopper

Maybe mine's a perverse sense of humor, but I am one of those people who become absolutely hysterical when I skim through Bob Reisner's "Captions Courageous" or the brand-new "More Captions Courageous." I appreciate art, and am usually so impressed with paintings and sculpture I could never think of anything witty to say about the masterpieces. But I can, and do, find Mr. Reisner funny and delightful, and cannot see why some artists take such offense at this reaction. "It amounts to sacrilege," they criticize me, and to this I say "Bosh." Only religion deserves to be treated with such respect or held in such awe.

At any rate, I find it hilariously funny when Teodoro, wearing a skull cap, glances up at his father, Francesco Sasseti, in the painting Ghirkirdao "Francesco Sasseti and son, Teodoro, and noting the father's equally sleek skull cap, supposedly remarks, "Gee, Dad, you forgot your propeller and mine got blown away," or when the Hans Holbein "Henry VIII" haughtily demands, "You say this Manville pays a thing called alimony?" Maybe it's the Hyde in me, but I have a wonderful time "jekylling" (Or chuckling, if you prefer.) And I still consider such a book a very pleasant 2.50 gift for an artist friend who has the gift of laughter and a sense of the ridiculous.

My thanks to Mrs. R. E. Durkin for a telephone call after she had read Monday morning's column. The book by Dr. Tom Dooley is "Edge of Tomorrow," she reports, and we are happy to pass the word along, since some of you may wish to order it.

Eighty years old! That's what my Dad was this past Sunday, and mighty thrilled about it too. As he pointed out with some gusto, upon learning that I was under the weather, "I guess I'm still healthier than any of the Maloney's." Somehow it's hard to visualize one's parents as getting older. I haven't been able to do so . . . possibly because it's difficult to think of myself as being the age I am.

I just had the very great pleasure of meeting a young woman from Columbia, N.J. Her name is Mrs. Stewart George, and if her gray-blue eyes sparkled a bit more than usual, or her smile flashed with an extra-special readiness, it was not without reason. Mrs. George had come in to see the beautiful Frigidaire Wrinkles-Away Dryer which she had won from our store in cooperation with Springmaid. Springmaid is the manufacturer of those superb self-iron sheets we've been introducing to our customers.

Mrs. George tells me she's never before won anything, and a gift such as this was almost beyond her comprehension. She needs a dryer too. Seven years ago she had purchased a Kenmore dryer from Sears, and it has given her remarkable service. But now, she has a brand new one with a brand new lease on life. This is important, for she has "myself and five boys"—one her husband; the others, young men ranging from 13 to 18. Naturally there are always big sacks of laundry to be done.

"I still can't believe this," she kept saying. "But it just goes to prove it was on the level . . . I was that surprised, I can't ever describe it. Just as happy as Mrs. George was Walter Wyckoff himself, for it was he who called her and broke the happy news.

ONE OF THE finest schoolboy performances in running was performed Monday at Catawqua High School's stadium when the Mountaineers upset the Rough Riders 20-14 after spotting the host eleven 14 points in the first 13 minutes.

The masterful running exhibition was put on by Stroudsburg halfback Bill Schoonover who amassed 211 yards from scrimmage in 21 carries. This performance of power and speed also included an eye-opening 73-yard payoff gallop which pulled the game out of the fire for the Mountaineers in the fourth quarter.

What was liked best by the fans who shivered through a cold and wind-swept afternoon was the way Schoonover bulldozed his way over would-be tacklers. Off-times the 180-pound Stroudsburg back was hounded in by a horde of host Rough Riders. But he only shook them off or carried them for three and four more yards before the mass tackling actually took effect and downed the still churning Mountaineer.

As the season progresses for the Mountaineers, the tag "bread and butter" player fits Schoonover more. Since his sophomore year the well-proportioned Mountaineer has been giving the West Main St. institution plenty of football each season. Injuries hampered at times his full effort. But still he gave the opposition fits whether it be on one good leg or two.

Now that the Stroudsburg destruction force is in tip top shape, the foes will have plenty to worry about. One man doesn't carry a ball club, to be sure, but he does go a long to help his team get over the hump. Catty found this out Monday when Schoonover literally bombed them out of their own ballpark.

Speaking of Mountaineers, center Bruce Imbt, carries the bulk of the defensive work in the Walt Bjorn eleven.

It is nothing to hear loudspeakers blare out almost continually, "Tackle was made by Bruce Imbt," or "Bruce Imbt assisted in the tackle."

The hardy Mountaineer line-backer has been near perfect all season long in a many-time spotty Mountaineer defense. Imbt always stood out as the roving Mountaineer has come from the other side of the field to make the tackle and keep the opposition from going all the way.

Our correspondent Arman Williams of Bangor, is still extolling the game played by Slater halfback Bruce Jones against Nazareth last Friday night.

Williams penned, "Jones intercepted three Blue Eagles passes and returned them for a net of 54 yards. He scored one of the three Bangor touchdowns in the 20-0 rout of Nazareth. Played like a bearcat on defense and was the most consistent ground-gainer for the Slaters as they rolled up 267 yards from scrimmage."

State Teachers Conference Notes — Quote from the likeable Coach Ted Nemeth of California: "Except for West Chester we have stronger STC football teams in western section of state."

Seven and possibly eight teams may enter the second annual STC cross country meet at Slippery Rock on Nov. 7. East Stroudsburg may join West Chester, the defending champion, Bloomsburg, Slippery Rock, Indiana, Shippensburg, Cheyney and Millersville in next weekend's event.

Most first downs recorded in one game this season was set by Millersville with 19 against Cheyney.

Cheyney's lone victory this season over Montclair was the Wolves' first football victory in 33 games. . . last win was Oct. 17, 1953, when Cheyney defeated Millersville, 6-0, but two deadlocks were recorded: (Trenton, 7-7, and Kutztown, 0-0) in long losing streak.

STC grid teams have won 17, lost seven and tied two against non-conference opponents thus far this season.

Oliver Blasts Officials But It's Not Sour Grapes

By Lou Black

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) —

Yale's Jordan Oliver was an angry football coach Tuesday. His targets were the officials who worked in the Dartmouth-Yale game here Saturday.

Without mentioning names, Oliver claimed that two "irresponsible decisions" by the officials proved costly to the Elis, who lost 12-8.

"It's not sour grapes," he said. "The defeat ruined Yale's perfect record of being unbeaten, untied and unscored on in five games."

"The wrong calls—mistakes, of course, were terrible," complained the Yale coach, who usually keeps his burns and bruises to himself.

Two Decisions

The decisions blasted by Oliver were these:

1. With no score as yet, fourth down and three to go on Dartmouth's 49-yard line about midway in the second period, Tom Singleton booted to Dartmouth's 12 where Yale's Mike Pyle recovered a fumble.

The officials ruled Yale was offside and Dartmouth had committed a personal foul on the play. The result was that Singleton had to kick again, and instead of Yale threatening from the 12, Dartmouth was in possession on its 19.

"Films plainly show that there was no offside on the play," emphasized Oliver.

2. With Yale leading 8-6, and about 11 minutes left to play in the game, Harry Oliver, the coach's son, fell on a fumble on Dartmouth's 33.

"An official, without even sizing up what happened, and although Harry was in possession of the ball at the time, said: 'Let's go, Dartmouth's ball.' Harry screamed bloody murder, I did, so did others, but it made no difference," said Oliver.

It was from this spot that Dartmouth marched 67 yards for the winning touchdowns.

In Sanctity

"The sanctity football officials are housed in is wrong," Oliver told sports writers. "If I make a mistake, I'm blasted. If the kids make any, they're blasted, but officials apparently mustn't be blasted."

The officials were John H. Coles of New York, referee; Foster M. Grose Jr. of Pittsburgh, umpire; Louis L. D. Nicolletto of Newark, N. J., linesman; and Raymond J. Barbuti of New York, field judge.

Buffalo Seventh To Join League

NEW YORK (AP)—Harry Wismer, member of the new American Football League's expansion committee, said Tuesday that Ralph C. Wilson Jr., of Detroit had definitely decided to locate a franchise in Buffalo, N.Y.

Buffalo is the seventh city in the new professional league which plans to start operations in 1960 with eight teams.

Officials of the league met here last Wednesday and awarded a franchise to Wilson. Wilson said at that time Buffalo was his probable choice for location of the franchise.

Wisner said an eighth city would be selected from Boston, Philadelphia, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati or New Orleans.

In addition to Buffalo, cities in the league are New York, Los Angeles, Dallas, Houston, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Denver.

Orange Slates Secret Drills

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse University football practices will be closed this week, for the first time in the 11-year coaching tenure of Floyd Schwartzwalder.

The eastern championship hinges on the Orange's meeting with Penn State Saturday. Schwartzwalder called the Lions the "roughest team we face."

He announced that Dick Whitey Reimer, halfback injured in the Holy Cross game, would be ready for action against Penn State.

Denies Resignation

MANHATTEN, Kan. (AP)—

Bus Mertes, Kansas State football coach, denied Monday he had told friends he plans to resign at the end of the season. "There isn't any truth to the report," he said. "I don't believe in announcing such things during the middle of the season."

E-Burg JVs Down S-Burg, 25-6

Victors Break Away From 6-6 Deadlock

EAST Stroudsburg High's junior varsity blending a solid offense with a rock-walled defense, defeated Stroudsburg's jayvees, 25-6, in the Little Battle of the Boroughs grid edition at Memorial Stadium yesterday.

The Little Cavaliers broke away from a 6-6 deadlock in the second period and went on to post their fourth victory in seven games. They have lost only once and tied twice.

Back Jim Steele sent East Stroudsburg in front in the first quarter when he hauled 10 yards for a touchdown.

The Little Mountaineers tied it up in the second when Henry Ray capped a drive by going over from the one.

40-Yard Play

However, Eastburg went ahead before halftime when quarterback Bob Smith tossed a 20-yard pass to end Harry Van Vleet and the Cavalier end ran 20 yards to paydirt to climax a 40-yard aerial and ground maneuver.

East Stroudsburg got insurance TDs in the third stanza when Smith, on a keeper, slashed eight yards into the end zone and fullback Dave Harmon rammed five yards for a score. Harmon made the day's only conversion when he plunged for the extra point after his own tally.

East Stroudsburg's defense held Stroudsburg in check throughout the afternoon, limiting the visitors to only five yards net.

ROAST RACCOON: CRANBERRY STUFFING

In the past decade raccoons have made truly noteworthy comebacks in almost all areas, and in some have become so numerous they are pests. Result: longer and more liberal seasons.

Baked raccoon with cranberry stuffing is as toothsome as morsel as you will find and certain to have you cultivating coon hunting friends, if you're not addicted to following the hounds yourself!

When cleaning, make certain all fat and scent glands under forelegs and on back are removed. Oldsters should be soaked in salt water 18 to 24 hours, young ones 6 to 8 hours. Stuff raccoon, sew and bake 25 minutes per pound in a slow oven (300 degrees). Bake every 30 minutes with bacon drippings, or better yet, butter and wine.

For cranberry stuffing, chop 1 1/3 cups cooked cranberries and sweeten with 4 tablespoons sugar. Sauté 1/3 cup chopped celery and 2 tablespoons minced parsley in 4 tablespoons butter until tender, then mix with cranberries, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sweet marjoram and 5 cups stale bread crumbs.

Giardello Hopes To Win TV Bout In 'Lucky Town'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joey Giardello likes to fight in Cleveland. He calls it "this lucky town of mine."

He tests that luck for the fifth time here Wednesday night against Dick Tiger, who won an unanimous decision over Giardello in Chicago five weeks ago.

The two middleweights are matched for 10 rounds, and the scrap will be nationally televised (ABC).

A good reason Giardello likes to fight here is that he has won all four previous times at the Arena.

The former Philadelphia, now living in Rosedale, N.Y., had a string of three straight victories when Tiger, British Empire midweight champion from Nigeria, upset him.

35 of 45

Tiger, 30, who lives in Liverpool, England, has won 35 of 45 bouts, 10 by knockouts.

Giardello, 29, will be a slight underdog for Wednesday night's bout. He has won 78 fights, 27 by knockouts.

Soccer Referees Gain 'Control'

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslav soccer referees, tired of being pushed around by athletes protesting their decisions, got together and worked out a plan.

A referee named Nikolic was the first to put it in effect. Sunday, in a match at Sabac, a protesting player rushed up to Nikolic and slapped him twice.

Nikolic took the first snap, took the second — the calmly knocked the player unconscious with a right to the jaw.

Cal Reported Set To End USC Series

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Oakland Tribune hinted Tuesday the University of California might break off athletic relations with the University of Southern California over the injury of California halfback Steve Bates last Saturday.

California's coach Pete Elliott has charged that USC linesman Mike McKeever deliberately injured Bates while the back was lying out of bounds. Bates is hospitalized with facial injuries and is expected to be out for the season.

Up To Presy

The next move in the Mike McKeever-Bates incident is up to USC President Dr. Norman Topping," sportswriter Ed Schoenfeld wrote in the Tribune.

"Authoritative sources reported today that unless Dr. Topping takes immediate punitive action in the matter, University of California will act on its own, perhaps even breaking off athletic relations with the Trojans.

"This was evident after the sources reported that Dr. Topping and UC President Dr. Clark Kerr held a secret meeting yesterday on the Berkeley campus.

Dr. Topping and Dr. Kerr reportedly each had their own films of the California-USC game, which USC won 14-7.

"From all indications, the Berkeley administration is ready to back Coach Elliott to the hilt in his charges of foul play by the Trojans," Schoenfeld said. As one man close to the UC picture put it:

"They're angry. Unless USC does something in a hurry to clean up this mess, California will act. Break relations? Entirely possible."

The two schools are members of the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities, the so-called Big Five, which began operations this season after the Pacific Coast Conference collapsed.

Other top scorers and their totals are: Jim Ebersberger, Geneva, 54; Gary Gilbert, Edinboro, 51; Ken Campbell, West Chester, John Freeland, Shippensburg, and Steve Bednar, Millersville, each with 48.

Precautions For Making Hunting Safe

By Dick Wolff
Noted Outdoors Expert

THE HUNTING season has started in some states and will soon start in others.

Since a firearm is a basic requirement for hunting and since a firearm can be dangerous, certain safety rules should be followed most carefully.

A few basic precautions and the great sport of hunting will always be a pleasure rather than a tragedy.

Treat every gun as if it is loaded.

Never point a gun loaded or unloaded in a direction where it could cause harm or damage.

Never take a loaded firearm into a dwelling or an automobile.

Never fire a gun at a target unless the target can be identified and the area behind the target can be identified.

Unload your guns when climbing fences or crossing stone walls.

Use in a gun only ammunition made for that gun.

Make sure the gun is mechanically perfect before using it.

Wear brilliant clothes, red or yellow, so the other hunter can readily identify you.

Plain House Sense
Actually, ordinary horse sense and consideration of others will make your hunting a safe and pleasant experience. Consideration of others also includes the person upon whose property you are hunting. Ask permission before you enter private land, ask the owner where his livestock is, make sure you close all gates after you so the livestock do not get out, and never damage fences or any other part of the farmer's property.

Be considerate and the farmer will invite you back. And at the end of a successful day offer the farmer part of your bag. A gift of a pheasant or a rabbit from a friendly sportsman will open the door for other sportsmen.

State, Syracuse Boast Offenses

(By The Associated Press)
TWO POWERFUL offenses will collide Saturday when Syracuse faces Penn State in a battle featuring undefeated, high ranking teams.

The mighty Orangemen of Syracuse, who also boast a rock-ribbed defense, top the nation's major college elevens in total offense 432.3 yards a game and scoring 36.2 points a game, according to statistics released Tuesday by the NCAA's Service Bureau.

Colorado QB Hailed As Finest Soph

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado Football Coach Everett (Sonny) Grandelius Tuesday labeled his passing sensation, Gale (The Whip) Weidner, as "the finest sophomore quarterback I've ever seen."

Coming from Grandelius, who once coached Michigan State's former star quarterback, Earl Morrall, that's a pretty high appraisal.

"I've never predicted anything but greatness for Weidner," said Grandelius, himself a former MSC star.

San Jose State and Stanford moved into the 1-2 spots in passing as the result of their wild aerial circus last Saturday when Stanford beat San Jose, 54-38.

San Jose became the passing pace-setter with an average of 207.6 yards followed by Stanford's 203.7.

By piling up 615 yards—a high for the season—against Kansas State, Iowa took over second in total offense with a 405.0 average. North Texas was second with 379.6.

Weidner has completed 65 of 129 passes for 817 yards, a school completion record.

With 86 yards rushing, Weidner has stacked up 903 yards in total offense and, with three games left, stands a good chance of shattering Colorado's total offense record of 1,435 yards established in 1937 by All-America Byron (Whizzer) White.

LSU To Meet Ole Miss Again?

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Claude Simons, president of the Mid-Winter Sports Assn. which sponsors the Sugar Bowl football game, said Tuesday the executive committee meets Wednesday night to consider bowl prospects.

"From what I hear," Simons said, "everyone would like to see Louisiana State and Ole Miss play again."

LSU's No. 1 ranked Tigers defeated Mississippi 7-3 in a thriller last Saturday.

THE LINEUP—It appears Catasauqua High grid players are lining up to get a crack at Stroudsburg High back Doug Wright in game Monday at Catty. One Rough Rider "jumped the gun" and grabbed the Mountaineer halfback before his perfectly aligned teammates could get a chance. Picture was made by alert Daily Record cameraman Rod MacLeod. However, this is not proof of Catty supremacy in over-all tilt as Mountaineers topped the host team, 20-14.

The Hungry Sportsman

PHASANT IN CREAM—John Pheasant is a wise old guy with plenty of tricks to pull on unobserving hunters. One of his favorites is sneaking off under the eyes of the gunner even though severely wounded. So, always watch the spot where he came down and note the direction of any movement of grass or weeds. It might be caused by stray breezes but more likely it is Old John taking leave for safer quarters!

Stewed in cream is one of the more delicious ways of preparing pheasant. Cut your bird into serving pieces, dredge in seasoned flour and brown quickly in hot grease in deep skillet. Add 1 pint half-and-half cream, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons minced onion and simmer until meat is tender. When meat is finished, make a gravy from liquid in pan by thickening with flour. Add one 4-oz. can mushrooms cut into small pieces.

Soccer Sites

ROME (AP)—The Italian Olympic Committee Tuesday picked seven cities for next year's Olympic Soccer Tournament. The cities are Leghorn, Florence, Grosseto, L'Aquila, Pescara, Naples and Rome.

Who's calling the signals?

You are. When it comes to the future happiness of your children, they must depend on you to guide them, to help them grow up straight and strong. And most of all, to give them a peaceful world to grow up in.

What can you do about peace? Keep in mind that peace costs money. Money for military and industrial strength. Money for science and education. Any money saved by individuals—like you—to keep our economy healthy.

You can help pay America's "peace bills." How? By buying U.S. Savings Bonds. Your Bond money not only brings you a good return; it helps strengthen America's Peace Power, too.

Are you buying as many Bonds as you might?

U. S. SAVINGS BONDS NOW PAY 3 3/4% INTEREST
Three big, new cash benefits make the Bonds you buy and the Bonds you already own better than ever:

1. All Series E and H Bonds bought on or after June 1, 1959 now earn 3 3/4% interest when held to maturity.
2. Your older Bonds will also pay more—an extra 1/8%, from June 1 on, if you hold them to maturity.
3. All Series E Bonds, old or new, now carry an automatic extension privilege they'll keep paying liberal interest for as long as 10 years beyond maturity.

Help Strengthen America's Peace Power

Dreher Twp. Gives Edge To Williams

SOUTH STERLING—Despite an election-day bid by Democrats to unseat incumbent Wayne County Sheriff Wallace Williams in accusing him of "political chicanery" stemming from a jail break in August, Dreher Township overwhelmingly backed him during this election.

Williams had a total of 176 votes running on the Republican ticket against Rutledge who polled 68 votes.

The jailbreak happened during August, and the two who escaped terrorized the area before they were recaptured.

The Democrats, on Monday night, accused Williams of "sleeping on duty" at the time of the break.

Republicans Lead

In other voting, the Republican candidates ran far ahead in the township, showing the following totals:

Supreme court, Gunther (R) 184, Eagen (D) 59; superior court, Johnson (R) 178, Montgomery (D) 55; county commissioners, Foster (R) 186, Locklin (R) 184, Camody (D) 58, Barna (D) 33; register and recorder, Trumm (R) 171, Dunne (D) 68; sheriff, Williams (R) 176, Rutledge (D) 61; district attorney, Nielson (R) 180, Reap (D) 57; county treasurer, Davis (R) 191, Campfield (D) 50; probatory and clerk of courts, Oakes (R) 186, Sienko (D) 53; county auditor, Perkins (R) 183, Fritz (D) 46; and Ort (R) 178, and Jones (D) 46; coroner, Perige (R) 183, Hessing (D) 53; school director, Shupe (R) 180, Frey (D) 66; township auditor, Brown (R) 175, Osborn (D) 72; supervisor, Gilpin (R) 175, Osborn (D) 74, and justice of the peace, Haag (R) 179 and Haag (D) 32.

Kemp Kadets Place Third At Nazareth

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
